

Wounded Youth At Home; Brother Awaits Probe

Well on the road to complete recovery, Thurlow Weir, 17, who was wounded last Thursday by his 15-year-old brother, Jimmie, during an altercation at the family home, 1408 Acacia st., was discharged from Torrance Memorial hospital Tuesday. The .22-calibre bullet fired by Jimmie at his brother was removed from the older boy's back by a surgeon.

Police have sent a complete report on the shooting to the County Juvenile Probation department, which is now conducting its own investigation to determine if Jimmie will be held for the juvenile court.

Thurlow was wounded at the climax of a bitter dispute and fight with Jimmie whom he accused of taking some of his money, according to Torrance police. Jimmie, after fighting with his brother in the house and duelling outside with garden tools, ran into the house again and locked the doors.

As Thurlow took off a window screen and began climbing thru, the younger boy took a .22 rifle off a wall, loaded it with a clip and ordered him back. Jimmie fired when Thurlow moved toward him. The boys live with their mother, Mrs. Lillian Weir, who at the time was at her place of employment on Terminal Island.

Are You In New City Directory?

If anyone believes he has been missed by the canvassers obtaining data for the new 1941-42 Torrance city directory he should come to The Herald office at once and give the facts of (1) correct name, (2) correct address, (3) occupation and (4) correct telephone number, if any. Likewise, those telephone subscribers whose number has been changed recently and has not been correctly noted by the directory canvassers should give this information at The Herald office.

Grover Inskip, president of the Western Directory Company which is compiling the new book, said all copy for the edition will be in the hands of The Herald printers this weekend. The book should be ready for free distribution to all residents listed in the latter part of this month. The Western Directory Company issued the last survey on Jan. 18, 1940. It showed, according to Inskip, that Torrance had a population of 8,658. The official U. S. census, completed exactly one year later, gave the city 9,950 residents.
